INDI-2311-FDE: Settler Colonialism in Global Contexts

Start Date/Duration: September 3rd to December 4th, 2024
Mondays, 7:00pm-10:00pm,
(Online/Zoom)

Instructor: Tamara Bernard

Course Description: Examines the social, political, and economic interactions between Indigenous people and settlers in a global context. Topics will range from colonial capitalism, missionary activity, the environment, self-determination, and the changing world order. The course aims to enhance students' understanding of the relationships between peoples and the process of settler colonialism.
